

track your shirt online!

step 1: find your harvest year
(printed on sleeve or hem)

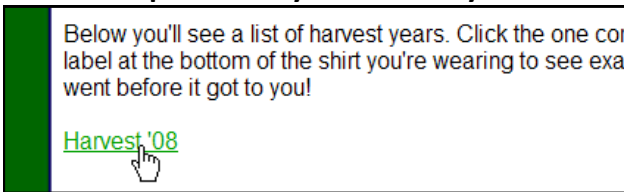

step 2: go to cottonofthecarolinas.com

step 3: go to "track your shirt"

step 4: select your harvest year

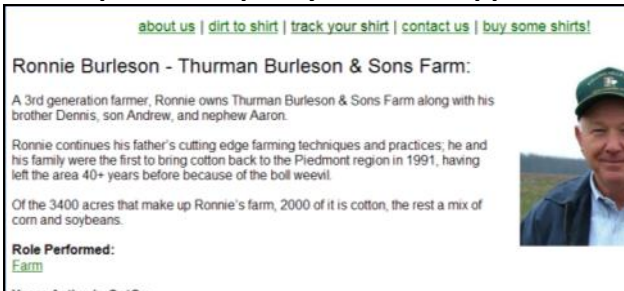

Below you'll see a list of harvest years. Click the one color label at the bottom of the shirt you're wearing to see exact went before it got to you!

Harvest '08

step 5: click a supply chain member

step 6: read up on your CotC suppliers!

Ronnie Bursleson - Thurman Bursleson & Sons Farm:

A 3rd generation farmer, Ronnie owns Thurman Bursleson & Sons Farm along with his brother Dennis, son Andrew, and nephew Aaron.

Ronnie continues his father's cutting edge farming techniques and practices; he and his family were the first to bring cotton back to the Piedmont region in 1991, having left the area 40+ years before because of the boll weevil.

Of the 3400 acres that make up Ronnie's farm, 2000 of it is cotton, the rest a mix of corn and soybeans.

Role Performed:

Farm

track your shirt online!

step 1: find your harvest year
(printed on sleeve or hem)

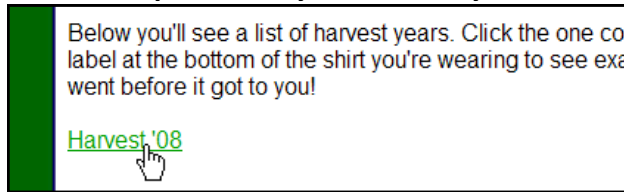

step 2: go to cottonofthecarolinas.com

step 3: go to "track your shirt"

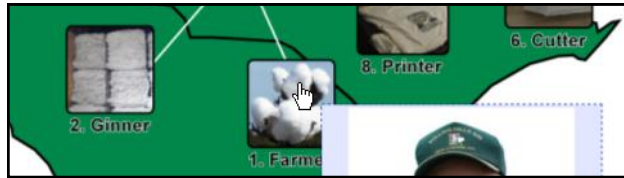

step 4: select your harvest year

Below you'll see a list of harvest years. Click the one color label at the bottom of the shirt you're wearing to see exact went before it got to you!

Harvest '08

step 5: click a supply chain member

step 6: read up on your CotC suppliers!

Ronnie Bursleson - Thurman Bursleson & Sons Farm:

A 3rd generation farmer, Ronnie owns Thurman Bursleson & Sons Farm along with his brother Dennis, son Andrew, and nephew Aaron.

Ronnie continues his father's cutting edge farming techniques and practices; he and his family were the first to bring cotton back to the Piedmont region in 1991, having left the area 40+ years before because of the boll weevil.

Of the 3400 acres that make up Ronnie's farm, 2000 of it is cotton, the rest a mix of corn and soybeans.

Role Performed:

Farm

track your shirt online!

step 1: find your harvest year
(printed on sleeve or hem)

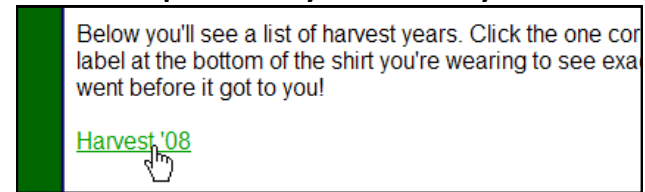

step 2: go to cottonofthecarolinas.com

step 3: go to "track your shirt"

step 4: select your harvest year

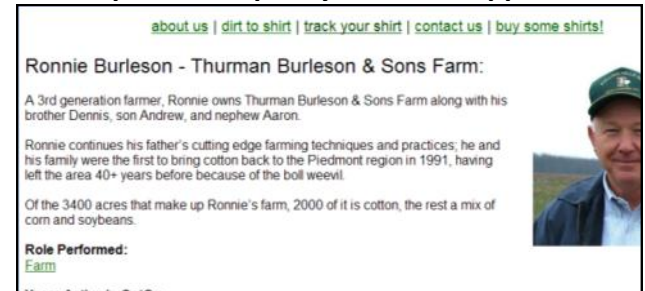

Below you'll see a list of harvest years. Click the one color label at the bottom of the shirt you're wearing to see exact went before it got to you!

Harvest '08

step 5: click a supply chain member

step 6: read up on your CotC suppliers!

Ronnie Bursleson - Thurman Bursleson & Sons Farm:

A 3rd generation farmer, Ronnie owns Thurman Bursleson & Sons Farm along with his brother Dennis, son Andrew, and nephew Aaron.

Ronnie continues his father's cutting edge farming techniques and practices; he and his family were the first to bring cotton back to the Piedmont region in 1991, having left the area 40+ years before because of the boll weevil.

Of the 3400 acres that make up Ronnie's farm, 2000 of it is cotton, the rest a mix of corn and soybeans.

Role Performed:

Farm

